LOCATIONS

CESANA

The town of Cesana Torinese, located at the foot of Mount Chaberton (1,354 meters above sea level) is not only an ideal place to stay in summer, but also the right place to practice many winter sports and search within its territory a complex of traditions and natural beauty.

Cesana is an important point of healthy residence, as well as transit to other locations, but also a place of convergence of the major sports facilities in the area. Cesana is in fact connected to the large ski area of the Vialattea with a chairlift that reaches the fields and slopes of the Monti della Luna and connects with the lifts of Claviere/Montgenevre (FRA), and with a cable car on the opposite side that connects with those of SanSicario and, therefore, of Sestriere.

So Cesana, with its baggage of historical traditions related to skiing, has experienced sports thrill as a protagonist, being also a place participating, in its picturesque mountain architectural theater, of the Winter Olympic Games - Turin2006. The area is located about 1,560 m above sea level, in case of bad weather it could get a little bit cold.

OLYMPIC CENTRE

The Olympic Centre was built in SanSicario, in the ViaLattea ski area, during the Olympic Games - Turin2006. The ski resort offers 212 slopes (7 green, 67 blue, 97 red and 41 black) and 69 ski lifts and it is characterized by large spaces, sunny and panoramic slopes that combine characteristic villages of Occitan huts with modern places equipped with all comforts. The vastness and variety of the area are able to satisfy both the most demanding skiers, thanks to the long and demanding slopes, and those who approaches the world of skiing for the first time.

The hotel has 64 rooms for a total of 200 beds, the structure is equipped with rooms for people with disabilities.

As one of Cesana Torinese's quality hotels, guests staying there will appreciate its advantageous, location and quiet atmosphere surrounded by nature with pleasant walks both summer and winter.

The Olympic Center restaurant offers a nice panoramic view.
